

BAJABIKE RACE

JUNE 21, 2015

ABOUT:

Baja Bike Race is a cycling race to push the bicycle enthusiast past their comfort zone. This event is also a fun bike ride, so no worries if competition is not your thing. The route takes you through baja wine country from the city of Tecate to the city of Ensenada in B.C. Mexico totaling 73 miles. During the ride, you will climb almost 4000' with 4 major hills. To create additional competition amongst riders, we created a race within the race to the top to one of the hills. Competitors with the fastest time will earn themselves King and Queen of the hill! JUNE 21, 2015

We created this race for the love of cycling. The route challenges all levels of riders and has history from way back in the 1970's. A company called Monday International owned by David Manwaring first created this route. This man is responsible for bringing cycling to Baja California. Back then, it was just a fun ride, with competition being more affluent, we decided to bring it back as a race. It is my pleasure to bring back such an infamous route. See you at the finishline! - Joshua Poe CEO/Founder BajaBikeRace
